

BRAND

SOUTH AUSTRALIA

POLICY

Government of South Australia

Introduction

This document outlines the policy and principles to be followed by Government of South Australia entities when using the Brand South Australia.

In February 2013 Cabinet endorsed a new brand for South Australia to aid in driving consistent long term representation of the State in key interstate and international markets. This is the official brand to be used for marketing and promotion of the State by all Government agencies.

Brand South Australia is based upon the values of creativity, innovation and industriousness – values which embody the State. The brand is a powerful identifying endorsement for the State and helps to encapsulate who we are, where we are and what we offer. It was created to become synonymous with South Australia and mark our contribution to the world.

It is intended that Brand South Australia be the single strong brand to promote South Australia that is used by Government agencies, and adopted by other stakeholders, enhancing the effectiveness of our communication efforts across the world through consistency and increased visibility.

The development of the brand underwent state-wide consultation and was launched to South Australian on 6th March 2013. Information on the development and story of the brand can be found at www.brandsouthaustralia.com.au

The Government of South Australia has adopted this brand for marketing or positioning of the State to further our education, investment, migration, trade, export and tourism markets. When undertaking marketing activities that promote the State, Brand South Australia must be used.

Refer to the “Brand South Australia – Branding Guidelines” which outlines Government use of the State brand. Government of South Australia Brand Guidelines still apply.

Using the brand

- The brand should be used:
 - In community, consumer, trade and business communication
 - By all Government of South Australia agencies
 - When promoting South Australia or the State
- The brand should be used by sectors including, but not limited to, education, migration, business, arts, tourism, education, export and investment.
- The Head of Profession, Department of the Premier and Cabinet (DPC), is responsible for brand management within Government.
- The brand is also available, by agreement, for use by private and community entities where the intended use is consistent with the aims and integrity of the brand. This is managed by the Brand Manager www.brandsouthaustralia.com.au
- The use of the State Brand does not negate the need to conform to Government branding, communications approval process, master media scheme or any other policies or protocols.
- The manner in which the brand must be executed is outlined in Brand South Australia – Branding Guidelines available at www.dpc.sa.gov.au/govcommunications
- Logos and graphic files are available through the Communications Approval Portal (CAP). Please see your Director of Communications for access.
